Lewis-Price donates food items, hygiene items to local organization

McLean, VA | Lewis-Price & Associates, Inc. | October 17, 2019

McLean, Virginia—Lewis-Price & Associates, Inc. demonstrated its commitment to support its local community recently when the Virginia-based company donated food and hygiene essentials to Share of McLean.

Share is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that provides emergency assistance to individuals in need in the McLean and Northern Virginia areas. In 2018, Share provided services to about 1,500 families and 4,000 household members, most of whom are children.

Share's year-round and seasonal programs include family emergency financial assistance, a food pantry, a used clothing room, recycled furniture, back-to-school supplies and refurbished laptop computers.

"We are thankful that Lewis-Price supplied resources to make a difference in the lives of our neighbors in Northern Virginia," said Erica Shane, co-chairman of the food pantry and clothing room. "The donation was terrific, and Lewis-Price donated a lot of items we don't normally receive."

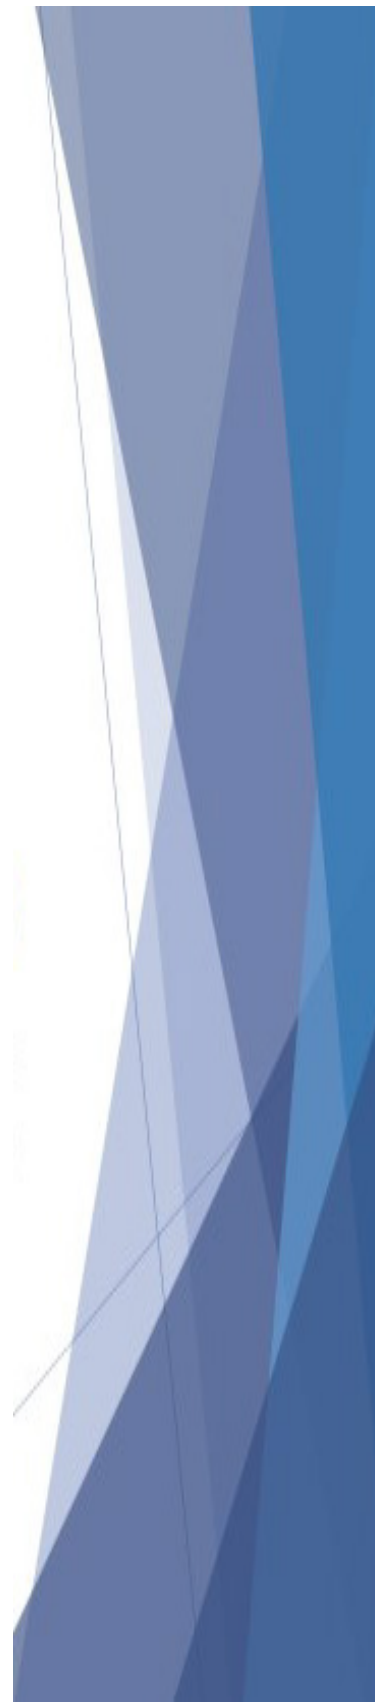

Lewis-Price donated items such as toothbrushes, shampoo, paper towels and a variety of nonperishable food items including canola and vegetable oil, canned fruit, applesauce, rice, canned beans, and other canned vegetables.

"We're glad we were able to support Share of McLean as part of our commitment to our communities," said Lewis-Price President and CEO, Ken Coleman.
